

ABSTRACT

A system for exhibiting Cherenkov radiation is provided. The system includes a beam of charged particles. A photonic crystal structure receives said beam of charged particles. The charged particles moves in said photonic crystal structure so that

- 5 Cherenkov radiation is produced at all velocities without requiring resonances in the effective material constants of said photonic crystal structure.